Phone Box Vandal Confesses

Phone Box Update by Nola

I confess – I am the phone box vandal! After much delay, the Parish Council has finally got round to replacing Telephone with “Stinchcombe” in the upper panels.

I took all the original “Telephone” panels out in case they could be reused, however unfortunately they can’t. I did put three of them back loosely in place to try to keep the rain out but they’ve obviously fallen out, so if any tall person happens to be passing with some duct tape….

I’ve no idea when the new panels will be ready (Dave who’s making them has a lot in common with the mills of God) but they will need to be sealed in place, so if you’re handy with a mastic gun your expertise would be much appreciated.

Please email me if you can help.
